

Stony Brook's

Earth Day Celebration!

Saturday, April 18th 2009

10am-2pm

A FREE event for the whole family!

Join Stony Brook Wildlife Sanctuary and GreenSchools as we celebrate Earth Day 2009 at Stony Brook. Toe Jam Puppet Band will be performing throughout the day. Come learn tips for conservation from green vendors, take a guided walk with an Audubon Teacher, children can join our staff and volunteers to make fun crafts, tie dye a t-shirt, and play games. Adults can learn about green building and technology, and creating greener, healthier learning environments with GreenSchools. Everyone will have fun! Refreshments will be available.

Earth Day Poster Contest Winners will be on display.

Mass Audubon

Stony Brook Wildlife Sanctuary, 108 North Street, Norfolk (off Rt. 115), 508-528-3140, stonybrook@massaudubon.org

Supported by MCC Grants from the Towns of Foxboro, Franklin, Medway, Norfolk, Plainville, Walpole & Wrentham